- Use a light touch. When painting the spring and summer garden, it's important to use a light touch. This will help you avoid overworking the paint and creating a muddy mess.
- Layer your colors. Layering your colors is a great way to create depth and richness in your painting. Start with a light wash of color and then gradually add darker layers until you achieve the desired effect.
- Use glazes. Glazes are a thin, transparent layer of paint that can be used to add color and depth to your painting. Glazes can be applied over dried paint or over wet paint, and they can be used to create a variety of effects.
